

$$\frac{\text{Bad debts sustained, adjusted by recoveries received, during the applicable period}}{\text{Sum of accounts receivable at the end of each taxable year during the applicable period}} \times \frac{\text{Accounts receivable at end of current taxable year}}{\text{Bad debts written off during the current taxable year relating to accounts receivable generated during the current taxable year}}$$